"John Barleycorn" at the Bijou.

Jack London's great story, "John Barleycorn," produced in pictorial form by Bosworth, Inc., will be the attraction at the Bijou all this week. "John Barleycorn" is the strange and interesting story that ran for weeks in the Saturday Evening Post, and afterwards had a large sale in book form. It portrays in vivid and realistic manner the alcoholic experience of Jack London. It shows London as a child of five, carrying beer to his father. It takes the spectator through his boyhood and youth, showing the after hardships and struggles of both periods. The film then takes the audience on the youth's awakening to the realization that there are better things in the world.

The boy begins to study and later goes to college, but everywhere he meets with the temptation offered by "John Barleycorn." It shows London when success comes his way as a writer. He mingles with cultured people and even in the environment of wealth and refinement "John Barleycorn" greets him. Finally comes the realization that "John Barleycorn" is his master, and then comes the great scene of this man desperately fighting his unappeased craving for liquor. Thousands of picture lovers will doubtless see the picture, because of its great acting, its stirring scenes and its story, which preaches a strong sermon, for it is the strongest plea for temperance ever pictured.

It is said that Bosworth, Inc., was nine months in the making of the picture, and that the production cost more than $50,000. The cast contains names well known to the "movie" picture lover.

There will be four performances daily at 2:30 and 4 o'clock in the afternoon and at 7:30 and 9 o'clock at night.

Colonial's Vaudeville.

The management of the Colonial announces that, though that theatre will be closed in the vaudeville and picture field this week, its bill has been selected with care and with the usual desire to provide satisfactory entertainments for its patrons.

According to the advance notices of the Colonial's bill, the feature act for the first half of the week will be the delightful vocal and instrumental offering by the Three Rosemary Girls, who were seen at the Empire Theatre during its first season of vaudeville, and at that time established themselves well in the favor of local vaudeville fans. These three charming young women are talented musicians, their instruments being cello, violin, clarinet and piano. One of the girls is a singer of popular songs and ballads, and has a rich soprano voice. This should prove an ideal "hot weather" act.

Conrad and Mariene are Italian character comedians, whose singing and talking numbers will be a diverting feature of the bill.

And Cullen, a clever team of singing and musical comedians, are new to Richmond, and their offering, which is said to be original, should prove attractive.

Koman's Japs, said to be among the best of the Japanese risley acts in vaudeville, will be the closing feature of the vaudeville bill for the first half of the week. There is one act to be announced, which will be assigned to the opening of the show.

A feature of unusual interest to Richmond people will be the motion picture given over to the dedication of the Virginia site at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. Special honors were accorded the Virginia commission, which was composed of Captain W. W. Baker, of Richmond; Senator Holt, of Newport News, and John T. Lewis, member of the House of Delegates from Mechanicsburg, and the ceremonies attending the presentation were elaborate.

The Hearst-Selig News Pictorial, showing current events, will complete the bill.

"David Copperfield" at the Empire.

Manager M. L. Hofheimer has wisely decided to omit the "Goodness Gracious" vaudeville acts, which have lowered the class of entertainment provided at the Empire Theatre, and has determined to offer, for the present, only the best feature motion pictures that he can obtain.

Throughout this week, with regular evening performances and daily matinees, he will present the famous picture made from one of the greatest of all the English classics—"David Copperfield." This picture was seen here earlier in the season, and it is because of the interest taken in it at that time that Mr. Hofheimer has arranged for its reappearance here this time at the Empire.

It is pictures of this character that not only provide entertainment, but prove the great benefit that may be conferred by the motion picture as an educational agent.
